A Checklist of the Helminth Parasites of African Mammals of the Orders Carnivora, Tubulidentata, Proboscidea, Artopodata and Perissodactyla (1970). W. S. Kingdon. 1970. 858 pages, 473 illustrations, 2 maps, scientific name and host entries arranged alphabetically by host, state, and province. Use this for identifying and confirming species, and obtaining information on geographical distribution and abundance. Includes hundreds of color illustrations and pencil drawings by Jonathan Kingdon highlighting the morphology and behavior of the species concerned, as well as line drawings of all structures and parasites. Each entry is accompanied by a diagnosis based on clinical and experimental data. Includes information on ecological interactions and host specificity. The book is invaluable for pathologists, veterinarians, parasitologists, and researchers working with ecological associations.

Parasites of Homo sapiens rank among the most parasitized of all animals. In part this is because we know so much about all of the biology of our species, but in addition, we are very seldom and very selectively exposed to any other species. Whereas some familiar parasitic infections are responsible for much human health problems, others are of little or no medical importance. This book ...
